

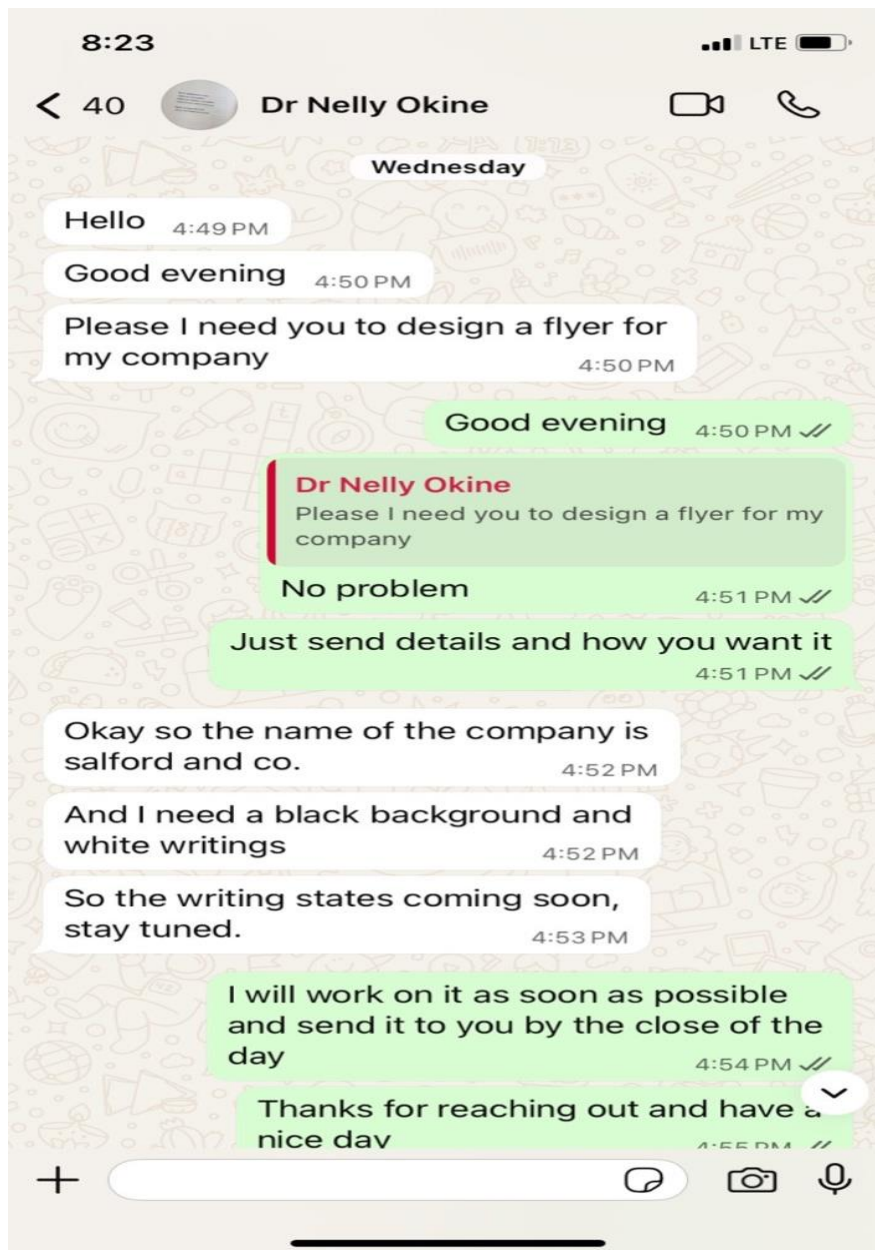

Graphic Design Project Conversation Summary

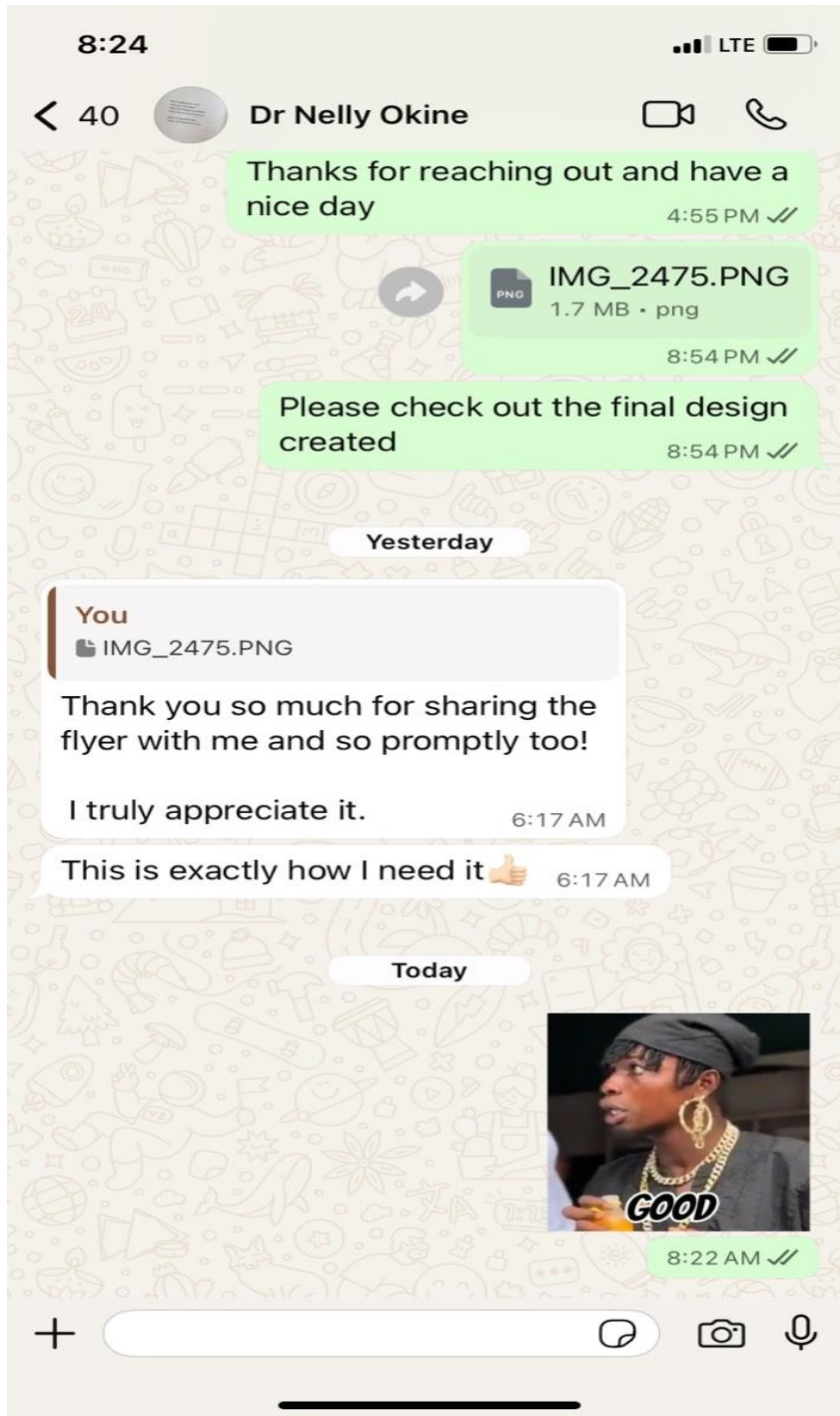

This document contains a WhatsApp conversation between a client (Dr. Nelly Okine) and a graphic designer. The discussion outlines the process of designing a promotional flyer for the client's company, Salford & Co. It includes initial communication, project brief, final delivery, and client feedback.

1. Initial Request and Project Details

The client initiated the conversation by requesting a flyer design for their company. The designer responded promptly, asking for the necessary details. Dr. Nelly Okine provided the following specifications: Company Name: Salford & Co. Design Requirements: Black background with white text. Text Content: "Coming soon, stay tuned." The designer confirmed understanding of the project and promised to deliver by the close of the day.

2. Delivery and Client Feedback

The designer sent the completed flyer to the client and requested feedback. Dr. Nelly Okine responded positively, expressing satisfaction and appreciation for the prompt delivery, saying:

"Thank you so much for sharing the flyer with me and so promptly too! I truly appreciate it. This is exactly how I need it ■■."

The designer acknowledged the feedback with a humorous 'GOOD' meme, showing a friendly rapport between both parties.

3. Final Flyer Design

This is the final flyer designed for Salford & Co. It features a black background with elegant white typography. The simple and professional layout aligns perfectly with the client's request. The flyer includes the text:

COMING SOON
STAY TUNED

along with the company's logo and website link at the bottom.
